

Written by: Viviane Regina

Illustrated by: Michael Regina

In a land far far away, there lived an old man named Santa Claus. He had a workshop, where he made toys for all the boys and girls. He also had a lot of little helpers, named elves. Santa was a very special man who loved God above all else. Santa always tried to honor God in everything he did. He was a very jolly man because he was filled with God's love. He loved people, especially children.

Santa's favorite time of year was Christmas because it meant celebrating Jesus' birthday. It was a time to remember how God came to us in a form of a baby boy. When Jesus grew up, He sacrificed his life to save ours, so sometimes he's called our Savior. So Christmas is a time to remember God's selfless love and grace.

Santa gets very sad when people forget that Christmas is a time to celebrate Jesus. Sometimes people get busy with Christmas shopping and lists, they forget what's really important. Kids get obsessed with wanting toys and being "good" so they get can a bunch of presents. Getting presents is fun, but it's not what Christmas is all about. Santa wanted to help children remember the true meaning of Christmas. He wanted children to share God's love instead of spending their time just asking for toys.

He didn't want children to worry about this naughty or nice list that they thought he had, for he had no such list. Santa wanted to remind boys and girls that we are all sinners and not deserving of God's love. Sometimes children make the wrong choices and choose to sin. But God shows Grace and loves them no matter what.

Santa came up with a plan to help show children the meaning of grace. While he was thinking of a plan, his little helpers were being very loud. You see, elves are very sweet and loving, but they are also very mischievous. And then it hit him, he would send an elf to boys and girls everywhere just during Christmas time. The elves would help children learn to share God's love and grace. He knew that the little elves would love living with humans during the Christmas season. He also knew the elves would love exploring the humans' houses and everything in it.

Knowing elves as well as he did, he knew the mischief the elves would cause. Boys and girls needed to love the elves, even when they were a little naughty, like God loves them. They were going to show the elves grace. Santa was so excited about his plan, and just knew it would work! While the boys and girls were busy teaching the elves all about God's love, maybe they'd learn something from the elves as well...

Santa went through his list, picking out a super special elf for each family. Each elf was unique, ready to explore and cause some mischief. But they were also ready to love their kids and learn from them. Elves are very gentle creatures, so boys and girls have to be super careful with them! Santa immediately started packing up his elves and sent them to the children.

The End.

WWW.MICHAELEREGINA.COM